

SUGAR & SPIKE ARE SPREADING THE WORD ABOUT DIABETES

"When our vet told us we had diabetes, we had no idea!

So now, we're telling our fellow pets and their families about the signs to look out for."

- Sugar

A pet with diabetes may give you a sign - or several:

- Increased thirst
- Frequent urination
- Weight loss with or without increased appetite

Certain pets are at greater risk for Diabetes:

- Being a neutered male cat
- Being a middle aged or older dog or cat
- Being obese (especially cats)

Pets with diabetes can continue to live happy lives with their families

Diabetes is on the rise.

Ask your vet if you think your pet might be showing signs of diabetes.
